Alliance

The ventilation system in Brf Fanö is a mechanical exhaust air system. The central fan is controlled by pressure. An Alliance has a built-in motor that reinforces the force when cooking.

Alliance plugs in to the existing ventilation system. It has a motor with 3 speeds that increases the airflow when cooking

If you want to install a new fan in your apartment, only an Alliance is approved to install.

It is important that you make sure that the fan is installed properly into the ventilations channel in the kitchen wall.

There are many different makers and models of Alliance.

Example of Alliance: cup for mounting on wall or kitchen island.
